

TO ADVERTISERS.

Transient Advertisements must be paid for in advance.

TO AGENTS.

Settlements of accounts will be required monthly, or supply of papers will be discontinued. The daily and weekly issues will be furnished at the lowest cash rates and no exception will be made to this rule.

AS THE COLONIST & CHRONICLE IS THE ONLY PAPER PUBLISHED IN THE COLONY THAT RECEIVES TELEGRAPHIC DESPACHES:

The Vexed Question.

The mail now due will put an end to all cavil as to the terms of the Union of the Colonies. Our New Westminster contemporary, regarding the question already settled, claps its wings in ecstasy at the bare thought of Victoria being "left out in the cold." Yesterday, British Columbia would not have Union with Vancouver Island at any price; to-day it is reconciled to the measure and "does not feel disposed to object to the disposition which has been made of the vexed question," professes to see in it "the only means which offered for putting a final end to a ruinous war and saving a British Colony from utter anarchy and ruin," and the most effectual means "of promoting the permanent interests of the united Colonies as a whole, and tending to consolidate and strengthen British interests on the Pacific." Fortunately for the good sense and intelligence of the sister Colony, the political mountebank who conducts the editorial department of the New Westminster bi-weekly, does not in the remotest degree represent the voice and sentiments of the people. There has existed in that publicity from the earliest days of its history, a small clique of narrow-minded, unscrupulous, selfish, grasping lot owners, whose jealousy of Victoria and everything and everybody connected with her, has made them the laughing stock of the public. To such an extent have the members of this magnanimous clique carried their railings, that one of them, an M. L. C., actually charged a New Westminster pilot with running one of Her Majesty's ships on the Fraser river and heads, in order to injure New Westminster and subvert Victorian interests. It is this high-minded coterie that the Columbian represents. When the Union question was being agitated that journal took upon itself to assert that the people of British Columbia were entirely averse to the connection, but the soundness of its views were soon afterwards put to the test by a monster petition being presented to the head of the Government, signed by almost all the men of means and intelligence north of New Westminster, recommending immediate Union. The people's quasi mouthpiece, feeling itself "small potatoes," then made an effort to pick holes in the signatures, but it was equally unhappy in that at enpt, and collapsed. Finding that the intrigues of their Governor have been successful in carving out a Bill however calculated to raise the price of New Westminster lots, the same journal is now ready to swallow the noxious bolus, regarding it as the only specific that will restore animation to the body politic. Well, we believe in equitable Union as much as ever we did, and we are ready to concede that it is owing to our own blundering politicians that we are now threatened with such a manifestly unjust and one-sided piece of legislation. But we maintain that the voice of British Columbia is equally opposed to Union on the terms which are now held out to us. New Westminster has no pretensions of any kind, either geographically or otherwise, to be the capital of the united Colonies. It may suit the vulgar ideas of our contemporary, now that it thinks that Victoria has been nailed to the wall, to talk of it as an "excessiveness," but to carry out the same elegant simile, we would like to know whether the hamlet of New Westminster, with its paltry few hundred souls, can be regarded as anything else than a "pimple" on the face of creation! The wealthy and influential men of British Columbia, upon whom the useless creatures collected around the government offices glut and fatten, are unanimously in favor of a more liberal Union, with the seat of government at Victoria. They are not actuated by any paltry feeling of envy; they know full well that it was the enterprise and capital of Victoria that built up the neighbouring Colony, that contributed to her revenue, built her roads, that sent supplies into her mines, gave liberal credit to her traders, and enabled miners to prosper for her hidden treasures. They know that New Westminster can never be anything else in our time than a mere port of call for river navigation, that a railway by way of Bute Inlet would of itself reduce her to a salmon fishing station, and that the key to the navigation of the Pacific must be on this Island, where commerce must consequently centralize. They are in point of fact sick of having the bogus pretensions of New Westminster thrust down their throats to the detriment of the interests of the two Colonies, and would rejoice at the settlement of the question by immediate Union, with a liberal constitution, the abrogation of obstructive duties, and the centre of government established at a point where all the laws of nature direct that it should be seated. The question of the seat of government, however, is one which, sooner or later, will cure itself, as the devices of man cannot bid defiance to the exigencies of nature; but it is the illiberal constitution—the result of the unconditional union resolutions—that will most result to our prejudice. So far as Governor Seymour is concerned, although we have grave charges to make against him, still if he is to be our acknowledged ruler, we must respect his office, and shall discountenance all factions opposition to his administration so long as he conducts the affairs of the country with equity, wisdom and discrimination. To-day will in all probability put an end to all doubts on the subject.

By Electric Telegraph

SPECIAL TO THE COLONIST AND CHRONICLE.

LAST NIGHT'S DESPACHES.

Eastern States.
Chicago, Sept. 21.—By the express orders of the President, the clerks of the White House are forbidden to furnish the press with lists of appointments.

Chicago, Sept. 22.—A Washington special despatch says Secretary Seward is rapidly failing and it is feared he cannot survive much longer.

Washington, Sept. 22.—The President has decided that in consequence of the pressure of public business, he will be hereafter obliged to decline receiving any committees or delegations whose object is to present a programme for removals and appointments to office.

Canada.

The Herald's Montreal despatch says General Meade left this city today, after receiving marked attention from the military authorities.

It is reported that a Fenian force is gathering on the Vermont border of this Province, and there is considerable excitement in Huntingdon, Canada.

Toronto, C. W., Sept. 21.—It is announced that the Bank of British North America will protest letters of credit from English bankers on the Bank of Upper Canada. The Directors of the Bank of Upper Canada have not yet decided what course to pursue, but it is thought the concern will be wound up by assignees. Bills of the suspended bank are selling at 30 per cent discount.

Toronto, C. W., Sept. 22.—This evening's Telegraph says the Government circular issued to country attorneys and Police Magistrates, advises the seizure of arms in possession of parties whom they consider dangerous to public peace, and suggesting that all persons known or suspected of having connection with the Fenians, be immediately prosecuted.

Europe.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE]
Berlin, Sept. 21.—The Prussian army returning from the war made a grand entry into the National Capital to-day amid great rejoicing.

Paris, Sept. 21.—La France announces that it has copies of the Saxon treaty, and that by one of its provisions King John is to abdicate the throne in favor of his son.

California.

Arrived, Sept. 21.—Stmr Sierra Nevada, 54 hours from Columbia river.

Sept. 22.—Bark Ethan Allen, 22 days from Honolulu.

Sailed 22.—Brig Franklin Adams, Victoria.

San Juan Island.

San Juan Island, Sept. 22.—The tranquility of San Juan Island was somewhat disturbed this afternoon by the continual firing of guns, and being in the immediate vicinity of the camp, parties went out for the purpose of ascertaining the cause. On their return, they reported it to be "all Wright." "Old Tom" of the Diana was in high spirits, and was firing off a salute in honor of the birth of "Young Tom," whose safe appearance in this world had just been communicated to him.

British Columbia.

Hope, Sept. 19.—Mr H. Stewart, who has just arrived from the Kootenay mines, has furnished the following items of news: He left Kootenay on the 2d inst. He reports 350 Chinese and 100 white men at work in the mines—generally doing well. The white men are selling out and leaving camp as fast as possible.

A party of seven white men left the Kootenay for the Saskatchewan mines, and were attacked by a party of Blackfoot Indians. Only one escaped to tell the sad fate of his comrades—the one escaping to the bush. The Indians robbed the party of thirteen horses, together with provisions.

Mr Linklighter of the H. B. Co.'s post, in the Kootenay, has deserted, packing the Company's goods and effects over to the Kootenay mines for fear of an attack from the Blackfoot Indians.

A Mr McDonald, with a party of eight men, left the Kootenay for the Saskatchewan mines, a few days before our informant left. Great fears are entertained for their safety. Nothing has been heard from the party since leaving. It is supposed that the Indians have also murdered and robbed them.

Correction.

Editors COLONIST & CHRONICLE:—The little carrying you undertook to do on mine of the 22d, has left a sentence quite unfinished, which you will obliging by inserting the following marked few words at the end of "street" in the 29th line: "The lightnings of Heaven would have been as unlikely to respond to the call, as the spirits of the deep were in the opinion of the unbelieving Hotspur!"

CAUSTIC.

The Accident to the "Belmont."

CUSTOM HOUSE, PORT ANGELES, September 22d, 1886.
Editors COLONIST & CHRONICLE:—There floated ashore on the outside of Ediz Hook just north of the Light House, a full figured, woman, painted white, together with a portion of the cutter, stem and some pieces of the bulwarks. The head has been recognized as that of the British ship Belmont, which left Victoria probably on Wednesday last.

We fear that the Belmont has met with a severe accident. We have the head and pieces of the wreck at the Custom House.

Very respectfully,
E. T. DYER.

Tariff of the Atlantic Telegraph—A Defense of the Heavy Charges.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE NEW YORK TIMES.
You refer this morning to the tariff for messages over the Atlantic Cable, which you think exorbitant, and to favor of "extortion." May I suggest one or two reflections to modify your judgment?

The Atlantic Telegraph Company was organized in 1856. For ten long years it has been endeavoring to lay a cable across the ocean. It has sent out five expeditions, and has probably sunk not less than $10,000,000, which has been literally thrown into the sea. After so many losses and sacrifices, it is hardly to be expected that at the first moment of success, or apparent success, they should be content with simple interest for their money.

But further, the risk is not over. True the cable is laid and working, but so it did in 1858, yet in three or four weeks it began to speak brokenly, and soon was dumb forever. So it may be now. Its projectors hope not. They have great confidence, because the new cable has been made with infinite care and laid in a perfect condition. But they are not based on the fact that it may stop to-morrow. A business involving such great and constant risk can only be conducted at corresponding rates.

But the chief reason which has determined the present tariff is the necessity of keeping it as high as to prevent any overcrowding of messages. If it were put low, it is probable that the cable would be so overloaded that it would not be able to perform its duty. The line would be choked up. As all would have to take their turn, messages handed in to day could not be sent till next week. This would defeat the very object of a telegraph, which is an instant transmission of messages. In that case we may as well send letters by a steamer. To have it of any use it is absolutely necessary to clear the deck every day. Whoever considers that this is the only link between the whole system of telegraphs in the country, reaching to the Pacific ocean, and the system in Great Britain, and on the Continent, extending across Asia to India, and to the borders of China, must see that the pressure of messages may be very great.

Such was the fear of this that in London those who had most experience in English and Continental lines, said that the rate ought to be two guineas a word. This pressure may be diminished in a few weeks. If the Great Eastern succeeds in getting up the cable of last year and completing it, the company will have two cables instead of one. If the present success proves permanent, other lines will be laid hereafter. In two or three years there may be a dozen cables across the ocean. With increased facilities the business may be done at lower rates. Then it will be very easy to reduce the tariff one half or a quarter. I hope the time will come when this means of communication will not be the luxury of the rich, but within the reach of every Irish and German emigrant who may wish to send a message across the Atlantic.

Yours, truly,
HENRY M. FIELD.
New York, August 1, 1886.

The Mormon Difficulty.

The Philadelphia Enquirer says in relation to the Mormon difficulty: "The question—What shall we do with the Mormons? is one upon which the Special Committee of Congress, appointed to investigate the state of affairs in the Territory of Utah, can give no advice. Enough has been elicited to show a very bad state of affairs in that section of the country. Brigham Young carries on his administration in defiance of the United States and teaches the most audacious and debased heresies under his control continual issues of treason. The tendency of Mormonism, under the p. l. g. u. m. form, is to rebellion and wickedness. There is growing up in Utah, and constantly increasing, a population which only wants strength to resist the National authority by actual war. If the necessities of the Mormon community continue as they have been made of late, it will be long before the country will have to prepare for war, exceeding in atrocity any contest with wild Indians which is to be found on record. The great distance of Utah from the settled States of the East, the cost and difficulty of carrying provisions and supplies to the West, and the natural character of the country, will render that war tedious, costly and vexatious. Expediency, therefore, would seem to justify the prompt execution of extreme measures, among which would be the breaking up of the Territorial Government in Utah, and the substituting of a military government in its place. But the Committee of Congress does not think that it is advisable to recommend such a decided course. Neither does the members of that body favor the idea of dividing the Territory held by the Mormons among the surrounding Territories. There is, therefore, nothing done, except to report an inability to agree upon any specific course, and a request to be allowed to hold the matter over until December next. There cannot be any gain by this procrastination. Every day increases the strength of the Mormon army, and renders him more hostile. Expediency, therefore, would seem to justify the prompt execution of extreme measures, among which would be the breaking up of the Territorial Government in Utah, and the substituting of a military government in its place. But the Committee of Congress does not think that it is advisable to recommend such a decided course. Neither does the members of that body favor the idea of dividing the Territory held by the Mormons among the surrounding Territories. There is, therefore, nothing done, except to report an inability to agree upon any specific course, and a request to be allowed to hold the matter over until December next. There cannot be any gain by this procrastination. Every day increases the strength of the Mormon army, and renders him more hostile. Expediency, therefore, would seem to justify the prompt execution of extreme measures, among which would be the breaking up of the Territorial Government in Utah, and the substituting of a military government in its place. But the Committee of Congress does not think that it is advisable to recommend such a decided course. Neither does the members of that body favor the idea of dividing the Territory held by the Mormons among the surrounding Territories. There is, therefore, nothing done, except to report an inability to agree upon any specific course, and a request to be allowed to hold the matter over until December next. There cannot be any gain by this procrastination. Every day increases the strength of the Mormon army, and renders him more hostile. Expediency, therefore, would seem to justify the prompt execution of extreme measures, among which would be the breaking up of the Territorial Government in Utah, and the substituting of a military government in its place. But the Committee of Congress does not think that it is advisable to recommend such a decided course. Neither does the members of that body favor the idea of dividing the Territory held by the Mormons among the surrounding Territories. There is, therefore, nothing done, except to report an inability to agree upon any specific course, and a request to be allowed to hold the matter over until December next. There cannot be any gain by this procrastination. Every day increases the strength of the Mormon army, and renders him more hostile. Expediency, therefore, would seem to justify the prompt execution of extreme measures, among which would be the breaking up of the Territorial Government in Utah, and the substituting of a military government in its place. But the Committee of Congress does not think that it is advisable to recommend such a decided course. Neither does the members of that body favor the idea of dividing the Territory held by the Mormons among the surrounding Territories. There is, therefore, nothing done, except to report an inability to agree upon any specific course, and a request to be allowed to hold the matter over until December next. There cannot be any gain by this procrastination. Every day increases the strength of the Mormon army, and renders him more hostile. Expediency, therefore, would seem to justify the prompt execution of extreme measures, among which would be the breaking up of the Territorial Government in Utah, and the substituting of a military government in its place. But the Committee of Congress does not think that it is advisable to recommend such a decided course. Neither does the members of that body favor the idea of dividing the Territory held by the Mormons among the surrounding Territories. There is, therefore, nothing done, except to report an inability to agree upon any specific course, and a request to be allowed to hold the matter over until December next. There cannot be any gain by this procrastination. Every day increases the strength of the Mormon army, and renders him more hostile. Expediency, therefore, would seem to justify the prompt execution of extreme measures, among which would be the breaking up of the Territorial Government in Utah, and the substituting of a military government in its place. But the Committee of Congress does not think that it is advisable to recommend such a decided course. Neither does the members of that body favor the idea of dividing the Territory held by the Mormons among the surrounding Territories. There is, therefore, nothing done, except to report an inability to agree upon any specific course, and a request to be allowed to hold the matter over until December next. There cannot be any gain by this procrastination. Every day increases the strength of the Mormon army, and renders him more hostile. Expediency, therefore, would seem to justify the prompt execution of extreme measures, among which would be the breaking up of the Territorial Government in Utah, and the substituting of a military government in its place. But the Committee of Congress does not think that it is advisable to recommend such a decided course. Neither does the members of that body favor the idea of dividing the Territory held by the Mormons among the surrounding Territories. There is, therefore, nothing done, except to report an inability to agree upon any specific course, and a request to be allowed to hold the matter over until December next. There cannot be any gain by this procrastination. Every day increases the strength of the Mormon army, and renders him more hostile. Expediency, therefore, would seem to justify the prompt execution of extreme measures, among which would be the breaking up of the Territorial Government in Utah, and the substituting of a military government in its place. But the Committee of Congress does not think that it is advisable to recommend such a decided course. Neither does the members of that body favor the idea of dividing the Territory held by the Mormons among the surrounding Territories. There is, therefore, nothing done, except to report an inability to agree upon any specific course, and a request to be allowed to hold the matter over until December next. There cannot be any gain by this procrastination. Every day increases the strength of the Mormon army, and renders him more hostile. Expediency, therefore, would seem to justify the prompt execution of extreme measures, among which would be the breaking up of the Territorial Government in Utah, and the substituting of a military government in its place. But the Committee of Congress does not think that it is advisable to recommend such a decided course. Neither does the members of that body favor the idea of dividing the Territory held by the Mormons among the surrounding Territories. There is, therefore, nothing done, except to report an inability to agree upon any specific course, and a request to be allowed to hold the matter over until December next. There cannot be any gain by this procrastination. Every day increases the strength of the Mormon army, and renders him more hostile. Expediency, therefore, would seem to justify the prompt execution of extreme measures, among which would be the breaking up of the Territorial Government in Utah, and the substituting of a military government in its place. But the Committee of Congress does not think that it is advisable to recommend such a decided course. Neither does the members of that body favor the idea of dividing the Territory held by the Mormons among the surrounding Territories. There is, therefore, nothing done, except to report an inability to agree upon any specific course, and a request to be allowed to hold the matter over until December next. There cannot be any gain by this procrastination. Every day increases the strength of the Mormon army, and renders him more hostile. Expediency, therefore, would seem to justify the prompt execution of extreme measures, among which would be the breaking up of the Territorial Government in Utah, and the substituting of a military government in its place. But the Committee of Congress does not think that it is advisable to recommend such a decided course. Neither does the members of that body favor the idea of dividing the Territory held by the Mormons among the surrounding Territories. There is, therefore, nothing done, except to report an inability to agree upon any specific course, and a request to be allowed to hold the matter over until December next. There cannot be any gain by this procrastination. Every day increases the strength of the Mormon army, and renders him more hostile. Expediency, therefore, would seem to justify the prompt execution of extreme measures, among which would be the breaking up of the Territorial Government in Utah, and the substituting of a military government in its place. But the Committee of Congress does not think that it is advisable to recommend such a decided course. Neither does the members of that body favor the idea of dividing the Territory held by the Mormons among the surrounding Territories. There is, therefore, nothing done, except to report an inability to agree upon any specific course, and a request to be allowed to hold the matter over until December next. There cannot be any gain by this procrastination. Every day increases the strength of the Mormon army, and renders him more hostile. Expediency, therefore, would seem to justify the prompt execution of extreme measures, among which would be the breaking up of the Territorial Government in Utah, and the substituting of a military government in its place. But the Committee of Congress does not think that it is advisable to recommend such a decided course. Neither does the members of that body favor the idea of dividing the Territory held by the Mormons among the surrounding Territories. There is, therefore, nothing done, except to report an inability to agree upon any specific course, and a request to be allowed to hold the matter over until December next. There cannot be any gain by this procrastination. Every day increases the strength of the Mormon army, and renders him more hostile. Expediency, therefore, would seem to justify the prompt execution of extreme measures, among which would be the breaking up of the Territorial Government in Utah, and the substituting of a military government in its place. But the Committee of Congress does not think that it is advisable to recommend such a decided course. Neither does the members of that body favor the idea of dividing the Territory held by the Mormons among the surrounding Territories. There is, therefore, nothing done, except to report an inability to agree upon any specific course, and a request to be allowed to hold the matter over until December next. There cannot be any gain by this procrastination. Every day increases the strength of the Mormon army, and renders him more hostile. Expediency, therefore, would seem to justify the prompt execution of extreme measures, among which would be the breaking up of the Territorial Government in Utah, and the substituting of a military government in its place. But the Committee of Congress does not think that it is advisable to recommend such a decided course. Neither does the members of that body favor the idea of dividing the Territory held by the Mormons among the surrounding Territories. There is, therefore, nothing done, except to report an inability to agree upon any specific course, and a request to be allowed to hold the matter over until December next. There cannot be any gain by this procrastination. Every day increases the strength of the Mormon army, and renders him more hostile. Expediency, therefore, would seem to justify the prompt execution of extreme measures, among which would be the breaking up of the Territorial Government in Utah, and the substituting of a military government in its place. But the Committee of Congress does not think that it is advisable to recommend such a decided course. Neither does the members of that body favor the idea of dividing the Territory held by the Mormons among the surrounding Territories. There is, therefore, nothing done, except to report an inability to agree upon any specific course, and a request to be allowed to hold the matter over until December next. There cannot be any gain by this procrastination. Every day increases the strength of the Mormon army, and renders him more hostile. Expediency, therefore, would seem to justify the prompt execution of extreme measures, among which would be the breaking up of the Territorial Government in Utah, and the substituting of a military government in its place. But the Committee of Congress does not think that it is advisable to recommend such a decided course. Neither does the members of that body favor the idea of dividing the Territory held by the Mormons among the surrounding Territories. There is, therefore, nothing done, except to report an inability to agree upon any specific course, and a request to be allowed to hold the matter over until December next. There cannot be any gain by this procrastination. Every day increases the strength of the Mormon army, and renders him more hostile. Expediency, therefore, would seem to justify the prompt execution of extreme measures, among which would be the breaking up of the Territorial Government in Utah, and the substituting of a military government in its place. But the Committee of Congress does not think that it is advisable to recommend such a decided course. Neither does the members of that body favor the idea of dividing the Territory held by the Mormons among the surrounding Territories. There is, therefore, nothing done, except to report an inability to agree upon any specific course, and a request to be allowed to hold the matter over until December next. There cannot be any gain by this procrastination. Every day increases the strength of the Mormon army, and renders him more hostile. Expediency, therefore, would seem to justify the prompt execution of extreme measures, among which would be the breaking up of the Territorial Government in Utah, and the substituting of a military government in its place. But the Committee of Congress does not think that it is advisable to recommend such a decided course. Neither does the members of that body favor the idea of dividing the Territory held by the Mormons among the surrounding Territories. There is, therefore, nothing done, except to report an inability to agree upon any specific course, and a request to be allowed to hold the matter over until December next. There cannot be any gain by this procrastination. Every day increases the strength of the Mormon army, and renders him more hostile. Expediency, therefore, would seem to justify the prompt execution of extreme measures, among which would be the breaking up of the Territorial Government in Utah, and the substituting of a military government in its place. But the Committee of Congress does not think that it is advisable to recommend such a decided course. Neither does the members of that body favor the idea of dividing the Territory held by the Mormons among the surrounding Territories. There is, therefore, nothing done, except to report an inability to agree upon any specific course, and a request to be allowed to hold the matter over until December next. There cannot be any gain by this procrastination. Every day increases the strength of the Mormon army, and renders him more hostile. Expediency, therefore, would seem to justify the prompt execution of extreme measures, among which would be the breaking up of the Territorial Government in Utah, and the substituting of a military government in its place. But the Committee of Congress does not think that it is advisable to recommend such a decided course. Neither does the members of that body favor the idea of dividing the Territory held by the Mormons among the surrounding Territories. There is, therefore, nothing done, except to report an inability to agree upon any specific course, and a request to be allowed to hold the matter over until December next. There cannot be any gain by this procrastination. Every day increases the strength of the Mormon army, and renders him more hostile. Expediency, therefore, would seem to justify the prompt execution of extreme measures, among which would be the breaking up of the Territorial Government in Utah, and the substituting of a military government in its place. But the Committee of Congress does not think that it is advisable to recommend such a decided course. Neither does the members of that body favor the idea of dividing the Territory held by the Mormons among the surrounding Territories. There is, therefore, nothing done, except to report an inability to agree upon any specific course, and a request to be allowed to hold the matter over until December next. There cannot be any gain by this procrastination. Every day increases the strength of the Mormon army, and renders him more hostile. Expediency, therefore, would seem to justify the prompt execution of extreme measures, among which would be the breaking up of the Territorial Government in Utah, and the substituting of a military government in its place. But the Committee of Congress does not think that it is advisable to recommend such a decided course. Neither does the members of that body favor the idea of dividing the Territory held by the Mormons among the surrounding Territories. There is, therefore, nothing done, except to report an inability to agree upon any specific course, and a request to be allowed to hold the matter over until December next. There cannot be any gain by this procrastination. Every day increases the strength of the Mormon army, and renders him more hostile. Expediency, therefore, would seem to justify the prompt execution of extreme measures, among which would be the breaking up of the Territorial Government in Utah, and the substituting of a military government in its place. But the Committee of Congress does not think that it is advisable to recommend such a decided course. Neither does the members of that body favor the idea of dividing the Territory held by the Mormons among the surrounding Territories. There is, therefore, nothing done, except to report an inability to agree upon any specific course, and a request to be allowed to hold the matter over until December next. There cannot be any gain by this procrastination. Every day increases the strength of the Mormon army, and renders him more hostile. Expediency, therefore, would seem to justify the prompt execution of extreme measures, among which would be the breaking up of the Territorial Government in Utah, and the substituting of a military government in its place. But the Committee of Congress does not think that it is advisable to recommend such a decided course. Neither does the members of that body favor the idea of dividing the Territory held by the Mormons among the surrounding Territories. There is, therefore, nothing done, except to report an inability to agree upon any specific course, and a request to be allowed to hold the matter over until December next. There cannot be any gain by this procrastination. Every day increases the strength of the Mormon army, and renders him more hostile. Expediency, therefore, would seem to justify the prompt execution of extreme measures, among which would be the breaking up of the Territorial Government in Utah, and the substituting of a military government in its place. But the Committee of Congress does not think that it is advisable to recommend such a decided course. Neither does the members of that body favor the idea of dividing the Territory held by the Mormons among the surrounding Territories. There is, therefore, nothing done, except to report an inability to agree upon any specific course, and a request to be allowed to hold the matter over until December next. There cannot be any gain by this procrastination. Every day increases the strength of the Mormon army, and renders him more hostile. Expediency, therefore, would seem to justify the prompt execution of extreme measures, among which would be the breaking up of the Territorial Government in Utah, and the substituting of a military government in its place. But the Committee of Congress does not think that it is advisable to recommend such a decided course. Neither does the members of that body favor the idea of dividing the Territory held by the Mormons among the surrounding Territories. There is, therefore, nothing done, except to report an inability to agree upon any specific course, and a request to be allowed to hold the matter over until December next. There cannot be any gain by this procrastination. Every day increases the strength of the Mormon army, and renders him more hostile. Expediency, therefore, would seem to justify the prompt execution of extreme measures, among which would be the breaking up of the Territorial Government in Utah, and the substituting of a military government in its place. But the Committee of Congress does not think that it is advisable to recommend such a decided course. Neither does the members of that body favor the idea of dividing the Territory held by the Mormons among the surrounding Territories. There is, therefore, nothing done, except to report an inability to agree upon any specific course, and a request to be allowed to hold the matter over until December next. There cannot be any gain by this procrastination. Every day increases the strength of the Mormon army, and renders him more hostile. Expediency, therefore, would seem to justify the prompt execution of extreme measures, among which would be the breaking up of the Territorial Government in Utah, and the substituting of a military government in its place. But the Committee of Congress does not think that it is advisable to recommend such a decided course. Neither does the members of that body favor the idea of dividing the Territory held by the Mormons among the surrounding Territories. There is, therefore, nothing done, except to report an inability to agree upon any specific course, and a request to be allowed to hold the matter over until December next. There cannot be any gain by this procrastination. Every day increases the strength of the Mormon army, and renders him more hostile. Expediency, therefore, would seem to justify the prompt execution of extreme measures, among which would be the breaking up of the Territorial Government in Utah, and the substituting of a military government in its place. But the Committee of Congress does not think that it is advisable to recommend such a decided course. Neither does the members of that body favor the idea of dividing the Territory held by the Mormons among the surrounding Territories. There is, therefore, nothing done, except to report an inability to agree upon any specific course, and a request to be allowed to hold the matter over until December next. There cannot be any gain by this procrastination. Every day increases the strength of the Mormon army, and renders him more hostile. Expediency, therefore, would seem to justify the prompt execution of extreme measures, among which would be the breaking up of the Territorial Government in Utah, and the substituting of a military government in its place. But the Committee of Congress does not think that it is advisable to recommend such a decided course. Neither does the members of that body favor the idea of dividing the Territory held by the Mormons among the surrounding Territories. There is, therefore, nothing done, except to report an inability to agree upon any specific course, and a request to be allowed to hold the matter over until December next. There cannot be any gain by this procrastination. Every day increases the strength of the Mormon army, and renders him more hostile. Expediency, therefore, would seem to justify the prompt execution of extreme measures, among which would be the breaking up of the Territorial Government in Utah, and the substituting of a military government in its place. But the Committee of Congress does not think that it is advisable to recommend such a decided course. Neither does the members of that body favor the idea of dividing the Territory held by the Mormons among the surrounding Territories. There is, therefore, nothing done, except to report an inability to agree upon any specific course, and a request to be allowed to hold the matter over until December next. There cannot be any gain by this procrastination. Every day increases the strength of the Mormon army, and renders him more hostile. Expediency, therefore, would seem to justify the prompt execution of extreme measures, among which would be the breaking up of the Territorial Government in Utah, and the substituting of a military government in its place. But the Committee of Congress does not think that it is advisable to recommend such a decided course. Neither does the members of that body favor the idea of dividing the Territory held by the Mormons among the surrounding Territories. There is, therefore, nothing done, except to report an inability to agree upon any specific course, and a request to be allowed to hold the matter over until December next. There cannot be any gain by this procrastination. Every day increases the strength of the Mormon army, and renders him more hostile. Expediency, therefore, would seem to justify the prompt execution of extreme measures, among which would be the breaking up of the Territorial Government in Utah, and the substituting of a military government in its place. But the Committee of Congress does not think that it is advisable to recommend such a decided course. Neither does the members of that body favor the idea of dividing the Territory held by the Mormons among the surrounding Territories. There is, therefore, nothing done, except to report an inability to agree upon any specific course, and a request to be allowed to hold the matter over until December next. There cannot be any gain by this procrastination. Every day increases the strength of the Mormon army, and renders him more hostile. Expediency, therefore, would seem to justify the prompt execution of extreme measures, among which would be the breaking up of the Territorial Government in Utah, and the substituting of a military government in its place. But the Committee of Congress does not think that it is advisable to recommend such a decided course. Neither does the members of that body favor the idea of dividing the Territory held by the Mormons among the surrounding Territories. There is, therefore, nothing done, except to report an inability to agree upon any specific course, and a request to be allowed to hold the matter over until December next. There cannot be any gain by this procrastination. Every day increases the strength of the Mormon army, and renders him more hostile. Expediency, therefore, would seem to justify the prompt execution of extreme measures, among which would be the breaking up of the Territorial Government in Utah, and the substituting of a military government in its place. But the Committee of Congress does not think that it is advisable to recommend such a decided course. Neither does the members of that body favor the idea of dividing the Territory held by the Mormons among the surrounding Territories. There is, therefore, nothing done, except to report an inability to agree upon any specific course, and a request to be allowed to hold the matter over until December next. There cannot be any gain by this procrastination. Every day increases the strength of the Mormon army, and renders him more hostile. Expediency, therefore, would seem to justify the prompt execution of extreme measures, among which would be the breaking up of the Territorial Government in Utah, and the substituting of a military government in its place. But the Committee of Congress does not think that it is advisable to recommend such a decided course. Neither does the members of that body favor the idea of dividing the Territory held by the Mormons among the surrounding Territories. There is, therefore, nothing done, except to report an inability to agree upon any specific course, and a request to be allowed to hold the matter over until December next. There cannot be any gain by this procrastination. Every day increases the strength of the Mormon army, and renders him more hostile. Expediency, therefore, would seem to justify the prompt execution of extreme measures, among which would be the breaking up of the Territorial Government in Utah, and the substituting of a military government in its place. But the Committee of Congress does not think that it is advisable to recommend such a decided course. Neither does the members of that body favor the idea of dividing the Territory held by the Mormons among the surrounding Territories. There is, therefore, nothing done, except to report an inability to agree upon any specific course, and a request to be allowed to hold the matter over until December next. There cannot be any gain by this procrastination. Every day increases the strength of the Mormon army, and renders him more hostile. Expediency, therefore, would seem to justify the prompt execution of extreme measures, among which would be the breaking up of the Territorial Government in Utah, and the substituting of a military government in its place. But the Committee of Congress does not think that it is advisable to recommend such a decided course. Neither does the members of that body favor the idea of dividing the Territory held by the Mormons among the surrounding Territories. There is, therefore, nothing done, except to report an inability to agree upon any specific course, and a request to be allowed to hold the matter over until December next. There cannot be any gain by this procrastination. Every day increases the strength of the Mormon army, and renders him more hostile. Expediency, therefore, would seem to justify the prompt execution of extreme measures, among which would be the breaking up of the Territorial Government in Utah, and the substituting of a military government in its place. But the Committee of Congress does not think that it is advisable to recommend such a decided course. Neither does the members of that body favor the idea of dividing the Territory held by the Mormons among the surrounding Territories. There is, therefore, nothing done, except to report an inability to agree upon any specific course, and a request to be allowed to hold the matter over until December next. There cannot be any gain by this procrastination. Every day increases the strength of the Mormon army, and renders him more hostile. Expediency, therefore, would seem to justify the prompt execution of extreme measures, among which would be the breaking up of the Territorial Government in Utah, and the substituting of a military government in its place. But the Committee of Congress does not think that it is advisable to recommend such a decided course. Neither does the members of that body favor the idea of dividing the Territory held by the Mormons among the surrounding Territories. There is, therefore, nothing done, except to report an inability to agree upon any specific course, and a request to be allowed to hold the matter over until December next. There cannot be any gain by this procrastination. Every day increases the strength of the Mormon army, and renders him more hostile. Expediency, therefore, would seem to justify the prompt execution of extreme measures, among which would be the breaking up of the Territorial Government in Utah, and the substituting of a military government in its place. But the Committee of Congress does not think that it is advisable to recommend such a decided course. Neither does the members of that body favor the idea of dividing the Territory held by the Mormons among the surrounding Territories. There is, therefore, nothing done, except to report an inability to agree upon any specific course, and a request to be allowed to hold the matter over until December next. There cannot be any gain by this procrastination. Every day increases the strength of the Mormon army, and renders him more hostile. Expediency, therefore, would seem to justify the prompt execution of extreme measures, among which would be the breaking up of the Territorial Government in Utah, and the substituting of a military government in its place. But the Committee of Congress does not think that it is advisable to recommend such a decided course. Neither does the members of that body favor the idea of dividing the Territory held by the Mormons among the surrounding Territories. There is, therefore, nothing done, except to report an inability to agree upon any specific course, and a request to be allowed to hold the matter over until December next. There cannot be any gain by this procrastination. Every day increases the strength of the Mormon army, and renders him more hostile. Expediency, therefore, would seem to justify the prompt execution of extreme measures, among which would be the breaking up of the Territorial Government in Utah, and the substituting of a military government in its place. But the Committee of Congress does not think that it is advisable to recommend such a decided course. Neither does the members of that body favor the idea of dividing the Territory held by the Mormons among the surrounding Territories. There is, therefore, nothing done, except to report an inability to agree upon any specific course, and a request to be allowed to hold the matter over until December next. There cannot be any gain by this procrastination. Every day increases the strength of the Mormon army, and renders him more hostile. Expediency, therefore, would seem to justify the prompt execution of extreme measures, among which would be the breaking up of the Territorial Government in Utah, and the substituting of a military government in its place. But the Committee of Congress does not think that it is advisable to recommend such a decided course. Neither does the members of that body favor the idea of dividing the Territory held by the Mormons among the surrounding Territories. There is, therefore, nothing done, except to report an inability to agree upon any specific course, and a request to be allowed to hold the matter over until December next. There cannot be any gain by this procrastination. Every day increases the strength of the Mormon army, and renders him more hostile. Expediency, therefore, would seem to justify the prompt execution of extreme measures, among which would be the breaking up of the Territorial Government in Utah, and the substituting of a military government in its place. But the Committee of Congress does not think that it is advisable to recommend such a decided course. Neither does the members of that body favor the idea of dividing the Territory held by the Mormons among the surrounding Territories. There is, therefore, nothing done, except to report an inability to agree upon any specific course, and a request to be allowed to hold the matter over until December next. There cannot be any gain by this procrastination. Every day increases the strength of the Mormon army, and renders him more hostile. Expediency, therefore, would seem to justify the prompt execution of extreme measures, among which would be the breaking up of the Territorial Government in Utah, and the substituting of a military government in its place. But the Committee of Congress does not think that it is advisable to recommend such a decided course. Neither does the members of that body favor the idea of dividing the Territory held by the Mormons among the surrounding Territories. There is, therefore, nothing done, except to report an inability to agree upon any specific course, and a request to be allowed to hold the matter over until December next. There cannot be any gain by this procrastination. Every day increases the strength of the Mormon army, and renders him more hostile. Expediency, therefore, would seem to justify the prompt execution of extreme measures, among which would be the breaking up of the Territorial Government in Utah, and the substituting of a military government in its place. But the Committee of Congress does not think that it is advisable to recommend such a decided course. Neither does the members of that body favor the idea of dividing the Territory held by the Mormons among the surrounding Territories. There is, therefore, nothing done, except to report an inability to agree upon any specific course, and a request to be allowed to hold the matter over until December next. There cannot be any gain by this procrastination. Every day increases the strength of the Mormon army, and renders him more hostile. Expediency, therefore, would seem to justify the prompt execution of extreme measures, among which would be the breaking up of the Territorial Government in Utah, and the substituting of a military government in its

COLONIST AND CHRONICLE

Monday Morning, September 24, 1896

Shipping Intelligence.

PORT OF VICTORIA, VANCOUVER ISLAND
ENTERED.
Sept 22—Sloop Louisa, Outler, Salt Spring Island
Schr Surprise, Spring, N W Coast V I
CLEAR.
Sept 22—Sloop Louisa, Outler, Chamaus
PUGET SOUND SHIPPING.
PORT ANGELES, W. T., Sept. 22d, 1896.
ENTERED.
Sept 6—Bark Oak Hill, bound to Port Blakely
French ship Oriza, bound to Port Lathlow
CLEAR.
Sept 6—Br ship Mohawk, Calao
10—Hamburg ship Garford, Shanghai
Br ship Belmont, Belle Isle, France
11—Star Diana, Victoria
14—Br bark Radama, Amoy, China
14—Br bark Liza, Bonga, San Francisco
18—Bark Victoria, Adelaide

THE ACCIDENT TO THE "BELMONT."—Our readers are already in possession of the particulars of the accident that befel the British ship Belmont, in the Straits last week. A correspondent at Port Angeles sends us the following particulars of the discovery of the wreck produced by the collision. Yesterday morning, the figure head of some vessel was discovered on the beach outside the Spit a short distance north of the Ediz Hook Light House. It is a female bust, painted white, and entire—although slightly marred. Some fragments of the bulwarks were also found. The impression here is that it belongs to some English craft. It must have come ashore the night previous. Capt. J. P. Adams, Master of the sloop Letitia, who crossed the Straits Wednesday night, reports having seen a vessel headed towards and nearly on the Spit, and that he barely escaped running foul of her in the fog, which was exceedingly dense. Capt. White, of the Revenue Cutter Lincoln, which came up the Straits from Cape Flattery yesterday, reports several vessels outward bound, one of which especially attracted his attention by some peculiarity of movement when tacking, but he saw no signals of distress or signs of wreck. The bust and some of the fragments have been brought to the Custom House, in the hope that by them the vessel may be identified.

THE JEWISH SYNAGOGUE.—The Jewish Synagogue is advertised for sale by order of the mortgagee. Some $3000 of indebtedness remains to be cleared off, and the Congregation Emanuel purpose raising that amount, if possible, by subscription from members of all denominations. To attain this desirable end Messrs. H. M. Cohen, Lewis Lewis, D. Shripser and F. W. Keyser have been appointed a committee to wait on our citizens and solicit pecuniary aid. We hope that the application will not be in vain. The Synagogue was erected principally by public subscription, and it would be a pity to see the fine building pass into strange hands and the congregation deprived of the means of obtaining spiritual comfort and instruction. We therefore hope that an earnest effort will be put forth to raise the $3000 and place the society in a position of independence.

COWICHAN.—The crops in this district are all gathered, and the yield proves satisfactory. A very large panther was shot by Mr Robert Miller, on Friday night last, while in the act of taking a young dog. The howling of the dog awoke Mr Miller, and he got up immediately. The panther dropped the dog and ran into the fern, where Mr Miller despatched it with his rifle. The brute was the largest ever seen in the district, and had been committing depredations among the settlers' pigs for some time.

VICTORIA RIFLE CORPS.—1st class firing Monday and Wednesday at 3 p.m.; 2d class, firing, Thursday at 3:30 p.m. The Butts will be closed for class firing on Saturday 29th Sept. Squad drill, Tuesday and Friday at 7:30 p.m. A meeting of No. 1 Company on Wednesday at 8 p.m., at Drill Hall, Fort street, at 8 p.m. By order, J. Gordon VINTER, Lieut. and Adjutant.

ORDINATION SERVICE.—Mr Raynard, recently arrived from England, was yesterday ordained a Deacon in accordance with the rites of the Church of England, at the Cathedral Church, by the Bishop of Columbia, assisted by Archdeacon Gilson and Dean Cridge. The rev. gentleman preached an excellent sermon in the evening.

SURVEY.—The ship Belmont was surveyed on Saturday by Capt. Raymer and Mr Laing, and was found to require extensive repairs before she will be in a condition to go to sea. The report of the surveyors does not differ in substance from the account already published by us.

GRIFF MILL.—Mr Woodcock has received from California the machinery for his new grist-mill, which will be erected at Soda creek. The yield of wheat in the upper country has been large this season, and the erection of the mill will prove a profitable investment.

LECTURE.—Mr Legh Harnett will deliver a Lecture at the Theatre, one day this week, the proceeds to be devoted to the benefit of the Fire Department. Mr Harnett is an able lecturer and promises to tell our people some home-truths.

THE RIFLE MATCH between ten of the navy and ten of the volunteers, will take place at the rifle range of the fleet, Belmont, Equinault, on Saturday next. The volunteers are required to be on the ground at half-past 9.

YALE MEMBER.—Mr Wallace of the Tribune has been elected to represent Yale in the Legislative Council. Mr Wallace is an independent man and will make every effort to benefit the District he has been called on to represent.

FIRE AT COWICHAN.—Mr Andean, a settler at Cowichan, and formerly a clerk at Lohse Bros. in this city, has had his house and all his furniture accidentally destroyed by fire.

THE ENTERPRISE.—On Saturday afternoon, towed the schooner Premier from New Westminster to this port.

THE STEAM-TUG LEVIATHAN came down yesterday for the British Columbia mail per Sparrowhawk.

THE STEAM-TUG DIANA. Capt. Wright, with all her colors set, came across from San Juan yesterday. As she entered the harbour a salute was fired from an "eleven-pounder" stationed on shore.

FRENCH MILLINERY.—The millinery department at London House is now under the management of a lady who arrived by last steamer from Paris.—J. H. TURNER & Co.

When you feel a cough or bronchial affection creeping on the lungs, take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and cure it before it becomes incurable.

AUCTION SALE.—Mr McCrea will dispose of the balance of Mr J. Loew's stock of goods on Wednesday, at auction, by catalogue.

SOCIAL TEA MEETING.—There will be a Congregational tea meeting in St. Andrew's Church, Broughton street, on Friday evening next.

NEW MUSIC.—Mr J. Bagnall has received per Royal Tar from England, a large assortment of music and all goods pertaining to his business.

The boat race between Francis and Lawrence, on Saturday, was won by the former, who distanced his competitor.

The racing gig built by Lachapelle for the Rowing Club is now ready for service.

The schooner Premier is laden with lumber and salmon for the Sandwich Islands.

EUROPE ARMED.—In the present position of Europe the following statement, drawn from official sources, of the armies on a war footing, is not without interest:—France, 903,017; Prussia, 650,000; Austria, 651,612; Italy, 424,193; Russia, 1,200,000; England, 265,000, not including 230,000 Volunteers; Germany, 407,361; Spain, 171,900; Portugal, 64,181; Holland, 92,000; Sweden and Norway, 137,800; Denmark, 41,940; Switzerland, 198,291; Belgium, 80,650; Turkey, 341,580; Egypt, and Danubian Principalities, Montenegro and Serbia, 152,000; the Roman States, 12,000; making a total of 5,996,062!

Auction Sales.

J. P. Davies & Co.
AUCTIONEERS AND COMMISSION MERCHANTS. Salesroom, Fireproof Stone Building, Wharf Street near Yates.

Cash advances made on Consignments.

THURSDAY Real Estate

SALE OF
First Class City Property,

Sale Positive—Titles Guaranteed.

J. P. DAVIES & CO.
ARE INSTRUCTED TO SELL

BY THE MORTGAGEES, AT PUBLIC AUCTION

AT SALESROOM, WHARF ST.,

Thursday, Sept. 27th.

AT TWELVE O'CLOCK SHARP,

ALL THOSE pieces or parcels of land in the town of Victoria, V. I., situate on Fort street, and bounded as follows: Beginning at a point on the northern side of Fort street, 150 feet east from the corner of Blanchard and Fort streets; thence northwardly at right angles 120 feet; thence westwardly 30 feet; thence southwardly 120 feet; being easterly to the place of beginning, being the easterly half of town lot (286) two hundred and eighty-six, together with all improvements thereon, comprising the double frontage store 22 feet front, together with the five-roomed Dwelling House, lathed and plastered throughout and papered over plaster; large kitchen 25 by 14 feet; fine fruit and Vegetable Garden in the rear, and large Gate Entrance on Fort street. This property was lately rented as a piano store to Mr. Bagnall at the low rental of twenty dollars per month. For further particulars apply to JOHN COPLAND, Esq., Attorney-at-law, Bastion street.

ALSO, FOR SAME ACCOUNT,

James Bay Brewery and Plant.

ALL THOSE pieces or parcels of land in the town of Victoria, V. I., situate and known on the official map of the same as Town Lots Nos. 1723 and 1734, having a frontage of 66 feet each on Michigan street. James Bay, by a depth of 165 feet, the two lots making half an acre, together with all improvements thereon, which comprise the four-roomed Cottage residence, 3-stall Stable and Coach House, fine Fruit and Vegetable Garden, and one of the best Brick Wells in the Colony, 78 feet deep, with large force pump—the well bringing in a rental of TEN DOLLARS PER MONTH.

ALSO, FOR SAME ACCOUNT,

THE BREWERY COMPRISES
Brewhouse, large Copper resting on Brick Arch, Mash and Malt Tubs, Underback Cooler, Brick Collar, Malt Room, with work round, Malt House with Brick Floor, Brick Malt Kiln with flues complete, also large Bottling House.

Michigan street is one of the best macadamized streets on the Island.

The Brewery and Plant are complete in every respect and capable of supplying both Colonies.

This property is well worthy the attention of intending buyers.

ACTS OF SALE AT BUYER'S EXPENSE
J. P. DAVIES & CO.,
Auctioneers.

Auction Sales.

J. P. Davies & Co.—Continued.

Mortgagee Sale!

J. P. DAVIES, & Co.,

Are instructed to Sell

AT SALESROOM

Wharf Street,

Thursday, Oct. 11th,

AT 12 O'CLOCK, NOON

By order of the Mortgagee, in pursuance of a power of Sale contained in a Deed dated 15th July, 1863, duly registered 28th July, 1863, and numbered 1259.

All that piece or parcel of land being part of lot 432, commencing at the N. W. corner of lot 432, thence running east 10 feet, thence at right angles south 120 feet, thence at right angles west 10 feet, thence northerly along the boundary of lot 433 to the place of beginning.

ALSO,

Lot 443, together with the buildings thereon, consisting of the Jewish Synagogue. The above valuable property, which cost over $15,000, will be sold to the highest bidder for cash.

The Deeds can be seen at the office of Messrs. Drake & Jackson, the Mortgagee's Solicitors, Government street.

ACTS OF SALE AT BUYER'S EXPENSE
J. P. DAVIES & CO.,
Auctioneers.

GRAND PROMENADE CONCERT

Government House,

ON TUESDAY NEXT, SEPTEMBER 25,

AT 2½ O'CLOCK,

Under the especial patronage of

His Excellency the Governor and Mrs. and the Misses Kennedy; Admiral and Mrs. Denman; the Officers of H. M. Ships, etc.,

On which occasion

THE BAND OF H. M. S. SUTLEY,

THE Band of the Volunteer Corps,

AND OTHER ARTISTES,

Will appear

TICKETS, ONE DOLLAR.—May be procured of T. N. LEBLANC & CO., Booksellers, Government street.

50¢ The Proceeds will be applied to the Funds of the V. R. Corps.

NEW GOODS

Ex "Royal Tar,"

THOS. WILSON & CO.

INVITE ATTENTION TO THEIR NEW

WINTER GOODS.

Just arrived by Royal Tar from London, consisting of

FLANNELS—Welsh—Twilled Saxony Plain and Fancy Colours

DITTO—Canton—White and Unbleached

BLANKETS—All sizes

BALMORAL SKIRTS

FRENCH MERINOS—In all colors

ALSO

Hoyle's Prints, Horrocks' Long Cloths, Linen and Cotton Ticks, Sheetings, Quilts, Drugget Squares, Green Baize, Hollands, American Leather Cloth

AND

A general assortment of Goods suitable for the Autumn and Winter.

THOS. WILSON & CO.,
Masonic Building,
Government street.

Notice to Cricketers

DURING THE REMAINDER OF THE Season the Members of the Victoria Cricket Club are hereby desired to attend for practice on the ground at Beacon Hill, on Wednesday and Saturday Afternoons at three o'clock.

BY ORDER OF THE COMMITTEE.

NOTICE.

A MEETING OF THE CREDITORS OF PARIS CAR-

TER, Bankrupt, will be held at the office of Mr. JOHN COPLAND, Solicitor, Bastion street, on TUESDAY, the 24th day of October next, at 1 o'clock, p.m., where a proposition will be made that the estate be wound up under a Deed of Arrangement and the Bankruptcy annulled.

JOHN COPLAND, Solicitor, Bastion street, Victoria.

Auction Sales

J. P. Davies & Co.—Continued.

Real Estate

BY AUCTION,

P. M. BACKUS

WILL SELL

By order of the Mortgagee,

Tuesday, September 25,

AT 12 O'CLOCK, M.

AT SALESROOM

Wharf Street,

Two full-sized Water Lots, Nos. 17 and 29 1293, situated on James Bay, together with the DWELLING HOUSE lately built by Mr. A. J. Welch, two stories high, lathed and plastered. This is one of the best built Houses in the Colony, and contains two Parlors, Kitchen, Bedroom and large Pantry on the ground floor, and three large Bedrooms, Bath Room and Store Room on the second story.

ALSO ON GOVERNMENT STREET,

Lot No. 224, corner of Courtney and Government streets, part of it under lease, being 86 feet on Government street by 74 feet on Courtney street.

ACTS OF SALE AT BUYER'S EXPENSE

TERMS AT SALE.

Liquor Sale

At Auction.

P. M. BACKUS

Has been instructed by the

HUDSON BAY COMPANY

To Sell

ON THEIR WHARF

Thursday, Sept. 27th,

AT 11 O'CLOCK, A. M.

10 quarter casks Pale Brandy, Hennessy

10 do do do do Martell

10 do do do do United

Vineyard's, very old

10 do do dark do do do do

5 puncheons old Jamaica Rum, H. B.

These Liquors are all of the very best quality, and are sold to make room for Liquors to arrive by the Prince of Wales.

ALSO

At the same time and Place,

7 quarter casks of very superior Sherry

82 cases Orange Bitters

6 half pipes Burgundy Wine

ALSO,

10 qr cks Port Wine

5 puns Old Tom

5 puns Gin, J. & R.

100 cs red case Gin

TERMS AT SALE.

AUCTION

Groceries &

Provisions

Auction Sales.

P. M. BACKUS—Continued.

TOBACCO!

P. M. BACKUS

WILL SELL

Wednesday, Sept. 23,

AT ELEVEN O'CLOCK A. M.

AT SALESROOM

Wharf street,

The following Goods

Sugar

70 kegs S. I. Sugar, No 1

50 do do do do do 2

50 bags do do do do do

27 kegs Syrup, 5 gallons each

25 half barrels San Francisco Sugar

EX ROYAL TAR

Groceries

Sultana's, in drum

Raisins

Figs in small boxes

Currants, No 1 Zanto

Candles, English

Olive Oil in bulk

Dried Apples

Pickles

Worcestershire Sauce

Assorted Sauces, &c

Flour

Oregon Flour in quarter sacks

Tobacco

8 cases Peach Brand

8 do Swan's

10 do Baldwin's

ALSO

Balance of Invoice, to close

10 half barrels Crushed Sugar, A in circle

11 chests U. S. Tea

50 mats Rice, 50 lbs each

5 cases Tomatoes in 2 lb tins

5 barrels Moss Beef

10 cases Adamantine Candles

5 do Swan's Tobacco

ALSO,

2 Trunks and Contents, for three years' Storage

TERMS AT SALE.

EX ROYAL TAR.

BEST LONDON SOAP

56 lb BOXES.

CROSSE & BLACKWELL'S

Pickles, Sauces, Jams, Jellies, Fruits, &c.

Fry & Son's Chocolate, Cocoa, &c.

New Scotch Oatmeal in tins of 25lbs. each.

WILSON & MURRAY,

PORT STREET.

New Book and Sheet Music,

BY "ROYAL TAR."

J. BAGNALL & CO.

PIANO AND MUSIC SELLERS, OCCIDENTAL BUILDING, FORT STREET. Pianos, Harmoniums, and all sorts of Musical Instruments, tuned, repaired and lent on hire. Book and Sheet Music and everything pertaining to the Music Business.

Notice of Dissolution of Partnership.

THE PARTNERSHIP HERETOFORE existing between THOMAS NAPIER HIB

